1. Guidelines for Chairs, Discussants and Presenters

Guidelines for Chairs

Keep time. Each session runs for 2 hours and consists of 4 presentations. A total of 30 minutes is allocated for each presentation, where we suggest the following distribution: 15-20 minutes for the presentation, 5 minutes for the discussant and 5-10 minutes for general discussion.

It is possible that your session may have fewer presentations than 4, for example because some participants are not able to attend. In this case, please do not take more time for the presentation or for the discussant's comments, so as to allow attendees to move to the other parallel session at the end of the last paper. As participants may like to move between sessions to listen to papers of their interest, please follow the order on the program as much as possible.

Remind presenters when 5 and 2 minutes are left.

Guidelines for Presenters

We encourage you to make your presentation brief and informative. Please stick to the time given for you to present. It is advisable not to have more than 10-15 slides and please make sure to upload your slides in good time before the session begins.

Research Proposal presenters should elaborate the following aspects in addition to scientific value of the proposed research:

- What are the most relevant messages coming out of your research from a policy perspective?
- Who have you identified to be the most important non-academic stakeholder to reach out to with research findings and how could you best make contact with them?

Guidelines for Discussants

- Please do not take time to summarize the paper or use PowerPoint slides. Pick up three or maximum four substantive issues in order to start the discussion and please keep to your allotted time. It would be appreciated if you could communicate your detailed comments to presenters by e-mail.
